CellSound Aesthetics

All sold in packages of 6 with a maximum purchase quantity of 3.

CellSound® is a non-invasive treatment that combines two safe technologies. It combines low intensity, non-focused ultrasound with electrical current fields. The CellSound® system's ultrasound transducer is applied to the treatment area and creates cell resonance, or vibration of the cells through ultrasound waves that are transmitted to the tissue. Electrical current fields are produced through four electrodes attached to the treatment area. This causes slight muscle contraction and increases cell membrane permeability making the cells more responsive to ultrasound waves and creates the release of free fatty acids from the cell membrane. This creates tightening and contouring of the arms, thighs, abdomen, flanks, and face with zero downtime and minimal discomfort.
